Mbai Rashamuse

PwC | Partner - Financial Services Taxation
mbai.rashamuse@pwc.com

“I enjoyed my time on the (AFM) course and particularly appreciated that the course is based on real examples, therefore making learning real and not abstract. It was also great meeting new people.”

- Corporate Tax Partner at PwC, within the Financial Services Tax team
- Joined PwC in 2006, after completing a Bcomm (Accounting) degree at Rhodes University and Bcomm Accounting Honours at University of Johannesburg
- Served articles from 2006 - 2008 in the Banking & Capital Markets division and spent 4 months working at PwC Dallas, Texas before joining the Tax division in 2009
- Advises both listed and non-listed clients on corporate tax matters within the Financial Services industry

“The format of the (AFM) course was very effective, covering a variety of topics and the content of the material was well presented. The instructor was knowledgeable when walking students through the information and addressing student questions.”
